

WORKSHOPPING BOOK PROPOSALS ON JAPANESE RELIGIONS

Hosted by the Nanzan Institute for Religion and Culture with the Society for the Study of Japanese Religions

REGISTRATION DEADLINE

17 JUNE 2022

The Nanzan Institute for Religion and Culture, in collaboration with the Society for the Study of Japanese Religions, will host a workshop for the composition of book proposals on academic monographs concerning topics related to Japanese religions. Applicants should be in the process of preparing a book proposal, and priority will be given to applicants who are working toward their first book publication. Applicants should be willing to discuss their book projects with fellow participants as well as provide feedback on proposals and drafts.

The workshop will consist of three meetings:

- |                                      |   |
|--------------------------------------|---|
| 24 June (time TBA)     | Participants introduce their projects and discuss goals   |
| 1 July (10am-noon)     | Discussion with Stephanie Chun (University of Hawai'i Press) and Fabio Rambelli (Bloomsbury Shinto Studies) |
| 1 September (time TBA) | Participants present final proposals for discussion   |

All times given are Japan Standard Time and all events will be held online.

Please register at the link below. For inquires about the workshop, contact Matthew McMullen (mcmullen@nanzan-u.ac.jp).

REGISTER AT:

<https://forms.gle/AWFfFhYWpASbawzP9>

